

Sklarow: "The independent Educational Consultants Association is an organization of about 2,000 professionals who help families figure out the right college match and help guide students through the application process."